KNITTING LESSONS
BY THE RED CROSS

The Red Cross workers are not idle. Their rooms showed enormous activity and interest yesterday. Everyone was busy plying the needle, measuring, knitting, cutting and doing their bit as if they were getting so much per hour. Hardly time to talk and every minute was work. The class in knitting will begin in earnest just as soon as the Red Cross in San Francisco can send the equipment. But, in the meanwhile, if any one wants to be shown on their own yarn any stitch, or how to proceed on their own materials, or work, Mrs. A. N. Myer will gladly give the help and instruction. She will take charge of the classes just as soon as it is at all possible. Several have enrolled.

There is still a need for more helpers on the shirts, and, if each volunteer would give one-half day a week, for a while at least, this first order for hospital shirts could be quickly finished. The sewing is plain and no one need be afraid that she can not do it well enough for there is always some one in the room to help out a little in direction. Mrs. Sherwin explained yesterday that they are accomplishing a great deal, but would like more help and that their knitting class augurs well in point of attendance and interest.

Little Elizabeth Bradshaw and Grace Harris made a picture yesterday as they quietly promenaded with their needles and knitting on the way up from the Red Cross headquarters. It was purely incidental on their way home, but it demonstrated the saving of the minutes and the helping along of the good cause.

WILSON PEACE SPOKESMAN

other hand, there was no effort to evade responsibility for an expression of view as to the bases of sound and enduring peace, for the president's response in its concluding paragraphs restates the purposes for which America entered the great war.

Doom of Militarism.
The radical difference that appears to exist between the Pope and the president touches this very matter of a stable and enduring peace. The pontiff looks to the restoration of conditions as they existed before the war; the president turns his back upon these convinced that a return to the status quo ante bellum could never bring permanent peace, which can be secured only by agreement between free peoples on both sides. As one official, commenting, expressed it, the president's response, reflecting as it does the views of the entente allies, sounds the doom of Hohenzollernism and military domination of peoples. That this can and should be accomplished without the destruction of the German people is one of the striking expressions in the president's note when he expressly disclaims any intent to seek punitive damages and the dismemberment of empires or even the punishment of the central powers after the war by gigantic economic combinations against them.

Directed To the People.

This shaft is aimed straight over the heads of the army controlled German foreign office at the understanding and appreciation of the German people, already manifesting many signs of a determination to assert their right to govern themselves by parliamentary methods. It is assumed here that there will follow a fierce outburst of denunciation against the attempt from the outside to dictate to the German people their form of government. But it is also believed that as the hardships of war and misgovernment bear with ever-increasing severity upon the German people, they must in the end throw off their military masters and take in their own hands through a representative government, the conduct of negotiations of permanent peace.

Responsibility On America.

Active exchanges have been in progress between the president, Secretary Lansing and the entente powers, mainly through the American diplomatic representatives abroad, regarding the answer to be made to the Pope's proposals ever since they were delivered to the various foreign offices. It seemed by common consent that to America was confided the heavy responsibility of framing and delivering the

Some misapprehension seems to exist regarding its being necessary to pay a dollar before giving one's services to the Red Cross; generally speaking those who are willing to serve their country are desirous of subscribing to the organization, but no one is debarred from serving, though some unfortunate circumstance prevent her giving money; it should be all the more reason for helping in the work where she can not give in coin.

More needles are needed in the knitting room, more sewing machines in the sewing rooms, so greatly has the list of workers been augmented the past few days. You who have either to spare for a month, or longer time, will greatly aid the efficiency of your chapter by loaning them. Phone No. 23, and the machines will be called for well cared for and returned upon request.

Again a request is made for the unskilled worker. From the scraps of clean, white cloth are made what is known as comfort pillows, used in the removal of patients from the battlefield to the ambulance and hospital. A child ten years old can help with this work. Bring your scissors, and clip these scraps. Perhaps a few hours' work on your part may be the means of saving some torn, bleeding limb from the sharp blade of the surgeon's knife, of sending back to the woman who gave her all not a travesty, not a poor maimed thing, but a Man, a man who secure in the belief of the effort, the sacrifice the love of the women at home, will again shoulder his gun should again his bugle call him.

KIDDIES' DANCE AT THE AIRDOME

Nobody should fail to drop into the Airdome this evening and spend a few bits for the benefit of the kiddies swimming pool. Prof. Bill Young promises the best music his orchestra can deliver and all that is required is a full house to net the little folks for their swimming pool at least a hundred dollars. This dance is a jitney and you pay as you go making it easy for anybody to share in the pleasure of contributing to a good cause. Every father and mother should attend this dance tonight, by so doing they are contributing to their child's welfare—teaching them to swim—something that every child should know when confronted with the danger of deep water. Let there be a record crowd at the Airdome tonight to assist in the building of the new swimming pool.

Arthur R. Brooke and G. G. Lincoln, of the local office of the Tonopah and Goldfield railroad and Paul Revert of the Verdi Lumber company will have charge of the floor and the collection of tickets and Mrs. George Murphy and lady assistants will have charge of the box office and sell tickets for this worthy cause. Tonight is the night. Place, Airdome. Fun starts at 9 p. m. Lights out 12 p. m. Every body welcome.

Michaels is shooting to "hit it if it's a deer, and miss it if it's a calf."—Philadelphia Record.

If the reports of Tautonic sentiment are accurate, the war is having one good effect, at least.—Chicago Post.

Tonight is the night of the jitney dance at the Airdome for the benefit of the kiddies swimming pool. Don't fail to be there.

If you have a boy or girl or were ever young enough to enjoy a dip in the old swimming hole you will not miss the trifle it will cost to attend the jitney dance at the Airdome tonight for the benefit of the kiddies.

first of the replies. The propriety of this course was apparent from the consideration of the fact that every one of the entente premiers and foreign ministers who had spoken publicly on the subject of peace had turned to the language of President Wilson's historic address to congress, and his other public utterances on the subject.

S. H. BRADY GOES TO HORNSILVER

EXPECTS BIG MILL AT HORNSILVER TO START CRUSHING ABOUT MIDDLE SEPT.

S. H. Brady, president of the Silvermines corporation with headquarters in Reno, arrived this morning en route to Hornsilver where he goes to supervise the finishing touches to the 200-ton mill which is about to be placed in commission. Mr. Brady expects to start the mill between the fifteenth and twentieth of September when he says the company will show the state that Hornsilver is one of the best camps opened. The mill would be running now had it not been for the fact that the United States commandeered all the pipe making facilities of the country and sidetracked the contract for the Hornsilver mill. This morning Mr. Brady was advised that the pipe would be shipped today enabling him to complete the pipe line connection with the Lida-Foldfield system involving a stretch of 8 1/2 miles of steel pipe.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

"Beware of Strangers," to be shown today at the Butler, does not contain any of the luridness which prevails in so many of the screen productions. The cast can be called an all-star cast since it is composed of such members as Thomas Satchell, Bessie Eytan, Fritz Brunette and Vivian Rich. The direction is the work of Colin Campbell, who directed "The Spoilers" and "The Crisis." It will be remembered that Mr. Satchell played the part of McNamara in the "Spoilers." The story has been very well handled and contains some suspense and thrills. The makeup of Mr. Satchell is indeed clever. The work as John Renter, the head of a band of crooks, who respect him, is commendable. One could go into detail about the various phases of the plot but suffice to state it is distinctly human in a different manner. It is the way the story has been made and the tone of realism injected that is worthy of every praise. This feature is for one day only—matinee, 1:30, evening, 7 and 9 sharp.

J. D. PEROVICH WOUNDED
A COYOTE NEAR HIS HOME

J. D. Perovich pleads guilty to shooting the coyote whose barking aroused the eastern end of camp yesterday morning. He says he was awakened by the noise of the marauder prowling around and the cries of the dogs. He got up and let his big bulldog loose. The latter engaged the coyote while Mr. Perovich was dressing and as the latter emerged with a rifle, the dog and coyote were locked tightly with the dog under and bleeding. Then the shooting began and the coyote ran off towards the county hospital finally disappearing over the hills. When daylight came bloody trail showed that the animal must have sustained a severe wound. Mr. Perovich fearing for the safety of his sister's family then put his own dog out of his misery. Instead of being out on McCullough avenue the encounter occurred on the Goldfield road near Margolla street.

Churchyard Yew Trees.

One reason given why very old yew trees are so often found in country churchyards is that originally these trees were planted to supply the peasants with wood for their bows, for in lawless times it was soon discovered that the only place where trees would be safe from nightly marauders was the churchyard, where the most hardened thief dared not venture between darkness and dawn.—London Mail.
